Dear Parents and Carers,

Welcome back after the half-term break! I hope you all had a restful and enjoyable week with family and friends.

It has been a wonderful week across the school, filled with exciting learning and warm welcomes. We are delighted to welcome our newest pupils who joined Little Cuthbert's Nursery this week; they have settled in beautifully and are already exploring their new environment.

Our Year 2 children represented the school wonderfully during Mass this week, participating with great reverence and respect. A huge congratulations to our Year 6 class for their excellent assembly this week. The children spoke with great confidence and treated us all to some outstanding singing, it was a true highlight of the week and a fantastic reflection of their hard work.

In our worship sessions this week, we were delighted to welcome Miss Kaye into school. She led us in exploring the books of the Bible, engaging the children in thoughtful discussions and helping them deepen their understanding of these key stories and teachings.

I hope you all have a lovely, relaxing weekend ahead. If you are attending any firework displays over the next few days, please stay safe and wrapped up warm!

Warmest regards,
Sarah Seeley

Safeguarding Spotlight

From sponsored posts and influencer promotions to adverts hidden within games and videos, children encounter online advertising almost everywhere. But can they always tell when they're being sold something? With young people particularly susceptible to persuasive marketing, it's important to understand how adverts can influence their choices, expectations and spending habits – often without them even realising.

Our Wake Up Wednesday guide explores the risks of advertising aimed at children, including misleading claims, unrealistic beauty standards, inappropriate promotions and pressure to make purchases. It also offers practical advice for parents and educators on helping young people recognise sponsored content, think critically about marketing messages, avoid unintended spending and develop healthier relationships with online advertising.
